

MOSAIC DLE
Policy Lab Module
Finding the Core Group

Once you have successfully identified your Policy Lab's focus, this template provides guidance for building the leading team. A well-established, clearly defined Core Group can act as the steering wheel of your Policy Lab, ensuring strong coordination and the effectiveness of its innovations.

In order to help you find a well-defined Core Group, fill out the following template!

This template may be used in a collaborative persona workshop as well (see pages 3-4).

Expected duration of session:	60-90 mins
Participants' name:	Participants' expertise:
1.
2.
3.
4.
5.

1. Strengths, roles and tasks

1.1. What strengths are needed for someone to be able to successfully motivate the different stakeholders in the Policy Lab?

1.2. What would be the roles of the members in the Core Group?

1.3. What would be the specific tasks of each role?

2. Structure and implementation

2.1. How many of these members would be ideal for the Policy Lab to run successfully, keeping your PL's established Focus in mind?

2.2. What meeting frequency/schedule would be ideal to discuss questions effectively?

Daily / Multiple times a week / Weekly / Biweekly / Monthly / Multiple times a year / Other:

2.3. What meeting frequency/schedule would be feasible in order to keep the Core Group members engaged?

Daily / Multiple times a week / Weekly / Biweekly / Monthly / Multiple times a year / Other:

3. Persona workshop

In order to have a clear, concise concept that guides your process, discuss the following persona-related questions together with your team! This will help you identify the Core Group members of your Policy Lab.

Your team does not have to agree on all the details, but it is essential to agree on the main points to ensure that the composition of the Core Group gets high validation.

The Policy Lead

What type of persona would be ideal for the Policy Lead position?

What are their expertise?

What are their experiences?

Are they connected to NGOs or state institutions?

The Knowledge Broker

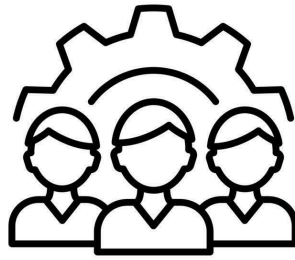

What type of persona would be ideal for the Knowledge Broker position?

What are their professional backgrounds?

What are their strengths that help build a bridge among the stakeholders?

What area of expertise do they have that is essential for connecting policy making, different research fields and other fields of expertise of the Policy Lab members?

Who are the other Core Group members that are essential for ensuring a strong Core Group?

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.
- 4.
- 5.
- 6.
- 7.
- 8.
- 9.
- 10.

Finally: Who could create a bridge between the stakeholders? Do you already have in mind some members that you associate with these strengths and roles?